The PARC - Coach's Creed

As a PARC Representative, I will provide a fun, positive and Christ-Like environment.

Therefore I will always behave as such:

- Ensure the players that the emphasis of the league is on fun and Christ-Like principles.
- Connect with the players to the best of my abilities on other levels that are not athletic.
- Use language and tone that is appropriate, courteous and considerate when interacting with players, officials, parents and spectators.
- Treat all players, officials, parents and spectators with the proper respect and patience no matter the circumstances that may occur.
- Provide an environment that promotes fair and respectful competition.
- Discourage unsportsmanlike behavior and dangerous play, but strongly promote players to demonstrate good sportsmanship, kindness and compassion in any situation.
- Abide by and support the rules of The PARC's recreational league.
- No matter what background, race, religion, walk of life, gender or disability/ability any of my players may come from, they will be warmly accepted on my team and participate in all team activities.

As a PARC Coach, all players shall be treated as individuals so I will provide the necessary patience and time to each player regardless of their skills or development.

Therefore I will always behave as such:

- Maintain a positive, supportive and Christ-Like attitude.
- Teach and demonstrate to my players that good sportsmanship and fair play should be exhibited at all times regardless of victory or defeat.
- Use my influence as a coach and leader to control the behavior of spectators and parents that support my team.
- Recognize that each child develops at a different pace, so I will mentor each player based on their individual needs and skills.
- Regardless of the player's skill level, I will always encourage and motivate all players that they are an active and important member of the team.
- Provide an organized practice that is fun, safe and challenging to all my players.
- Arrive to my practices and games in a timely manner and effectively communicate with my parents and players about any complications.
- Conduct the required practice devotion to promote the spiritual growth of your players during each practice.
- Understand that the positive development and experience of my players comes first and foremost before winning, losing and competitiveness.

I have read and agree to this expectation placed on me as a PARC coach:
